Board Chair's Message

It is a distinct privilege for me to serve as Chair of the boards of trustees of The American College of Greece and The American University of Greece Foundation. The boards provide essential leadership for the oversight, support and preservation of the mission of this singular educational institution. In 2021 we were pleased to welcome Nikos Koumettis, Alex Aldous, Michael Bapis, Antony Contomichalos and Daniel Smith as new members of our boards.

The work of the entire ACG community – faculty, staff and students – continues to be a source of inspiration. In 2021, despite the continuing challenge of the pandemic, ACG made significant advances on several fronts as outlined in this Annual Report, extending the institutional momentum established over the last decade. We look forward to continuing this momentum, with the support of our alumni and friends, as we meet the challenges and pursue the opportunities the future brings.

President's Message

2021 was an historic year for The American College of Greece with the acquisition of the East Campus and the organization of the Pierce Kindergarten and Elementary School, which will welcome students in fall 2022. The response to this new Pierce Division has been incredible, with approximately 2,000 applications received for the 800 available seats – and, this without any expenditure on advertising!

At the same time that ACG staff and faculty have worked tirelessly on the East Campus project – comprehensively renovating the new campus, interviewing more than 1,100 prospective families and students, hiring new personnel, coping with inflationary and supply chain issues – we have also dealt with the lingering challenges of the pandemic.

The achievements and contributions to our students, Greece, American education, Hellenic heritage, and the global community, as outlined in this Annual Report, are impressive. I am indebted to all my ACG colleagues as well as our alumni and friends who have contributed to the advancement of the institution this year. Working together we continue to accomplish amazing things!

Greece 1821-1941: A tribute to Greece 2021 Celebrations

An anthology of writings by American scholars, authors and politicians commenting on the struggles, history and culture of Greece. It was published in 1941 in order to commemorate 120 years from 1821. The anthology was created in New York by the American Friends of Greece, an organization founded in 1923 to promote "friendly relations between the people in the United States and the people of Greece". The Deree History Society, an academic society run by Deree history students is preparing an annotated version of the booklet to provide short biographical notes and describe the context of each piece of writing.

“Contemporary Themes Through Literature” Course of B Lyceum

Dr. Yanna Lambrinidou

Dr. Deborah Jewell-Sherman

The aim of this course is to broaden students’ understanding of important, contemporary themes such as racism, justice, immigration, violence, and moral courage through the close study of literary texts. This year, we invited two speakers who drew on their professional background and experience to discuss the topic of moral courage and how it is one of the qualities required for societal change. The first speaker was Dr. Yanna Lambrinidou, an Adjunct Assistant Professor in the Department of Science, Technology, and Society (STS), at Virginia Tech and cofounder of the Campaign for Lead Free Water. The second speaker was Dr. Deborah Jewell-Sherman, the first woman professor of practice at the Harvard Graduate School of Education (HGSE). The students engaged in interactive activities with the guest speakers, exploiting tools (break-out rooms) offered by online educational technology.

LITERATURE FESTIVAL 2021

The topic of the English Department literary festival this year was “Black Literature” to honor Black authors, poets and artists who have influenced literature at a universal level. The festival was full of exciting online events that took place in English classes throughout the week of February 15 – 19. Students worked in five collaboration teams under the guidance of English Department advisors and music teachers, taking full advantage of online tools and methods to produce high quality contributions towards the Festival thus promoting Black Literature and culture to the entire ACG community. The student committee focused on the selection and study of literary and non-literary texts, created videos and other works such as drawings and posters to introduce music & art, designed quiz games and numerous presentations.

Earthlips. They were also interviewed for Kathimerini newspaper. As a student sustainable development enterprise, “Earthlips” is introducing a revolutionary idea in the beauty industry: a lipstick with ecological packaging which can be used again, made without plastic, which pollutes the environment. The lipstick itself is also friendly to the user and the planet, as it was created using flower, fruit and vegetable extracts. The prototype of the idea was created on the school’s 3D printers.

Beginning in early 2022, NCSR "Demokritos" will host The ACG Innovation Hub @ Demokritos, which will provide space for start-ups, venture capitalists, research collaborations and other aspects relevant to innovation. In a wide-ranging memorandum of understanding between the two entities signed in July, NCSR "Demokritos" and ACG have agreed to collaborate in other areas including scientific research projects, student projects and researcher/faculty exchanges.

NCSR "Demokritos" president George Nounesis commented: "The Demokritos ecosystem provides space and encouragement for innovation at the start-up level and beyond, hosting companies that range from spin-offs to Tesla. We are very pleased to have The American College of Greece as a partner in this new venture that will expand Demokritos' impact even further in this area."

President David G. Horner of The American College of Greece noted: "The National Centre for Scientific Research "Demokritos" and ACG have been neighbors in Aghia Paraskevi for many years. This agreement reflects not only our physical proximity but also the similarities in our institutional goals of promoting research and innovation and our commitment to advancing economic development in Greece."
